MUSIC CONCERT ANNOUNCEMENT Saturday, April 18, 2009 - 7:30 pm

The Folk Music Society of Huntington's HARD LUCK CAFÉ will present two performers:

CLAUDIA JACOBS Emotionally charged

She's traveled throughout Europe and the United States sharing the stage with some of the most iconic folk figures of our time, mesmerizing the audience with her incredible voice, ballsy yet warm personality and songwriting chops.

After a hiatus to raise a family, Claudia was called out by guitar virtuoso and fellow Long Islander Little Toby Walker while he was performing to sing a song. That's all it took, a call back to the beating heart of folk music and the stage. The next day, she sat down and wrote her first song in almost 10 years, and then they just kept coming. Her songs, voice and stage presence continue to be appreciated by music lovers. She's back on the road, better then ever and loving it! Expect to feel the love !!!

on the same program with:

CHRISTINE HAVRILLA Neofunkadelicfolkpoptwang!

Self-taught, Christine Havrilla wins crowds over wherever she goes with her musical innovation, heartfelt lyrics, and sparkling personality — and with her guitar a mere extension of herself. Her music and sound are difficult to fit into one category; Christine describes it as "Neofunkadelicfolkpoptwangrock!" She lives up to the moniker bestowed upon her by Dena Marchiony of the Philadelphia Songwriters Project, "the quintessential pop-rock goddess." — Philadelphia Magazine simply states, "She rocks!"

Christine has a collection of songs that clearly define her as a pop singer/songwriter at the peak of her form, — she has established herself as high-energy and introspective, and always from the heart, dispensing medicinal lyrics for the soul.

... come hear this emotionally stirring performer at her peak.
